When I realized time was running short
And friends would drift away,
I wished I could make time stand still
And it would always be today.

That I could always find you here
And we'd be young forever;
That tomorrow when we said goodbye,
Tomorrow would be never.

But if time stood still, there'd be no way
Our friendship could have grown;
And all the sunsets that we shared
We never would have known.

The fact that people come and go
Makes friendships that much stronger;
And when you know each minute counts,
Your friendships last much longer.

So even if time keeps moving on,
It is still always today;
And though people often leave your life,
Their memories always stay.
